

National Severe Weather Warning Service

Chief Forecasters Assessment

A band of rain, with hill snow, will move south across northern and central parts of the UK during Friday, followed by showers which will become confined to the north and west overnight. The showers will fall as snow over hills and even to low levels in the north. Clearing skies will allow the temperature to fall below freezing with ice a hazard on untreated surfaces.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Ice

Valid from 17:00 on Fri, 12th Dec 2014 until 11:00 on Sat, 13th Dec 2014

Ice is likely to form on untreated surfaces during Friday night and early Saturday morning, particularly where showers have occurred during Friday. The showers will fall as sleet or snow over hills and to low levels in the north.

The public is advised to take extra care.
